THE EMPEROR'S HEART.—When Napoleon the Great died at St Helena, an English Physician took charge of his heart, depositing it in a silver basin filled with water. Two tapers burned near it, but the custodian left, nervously anxious while watching it through the night, and did not sleep. In the silence of midnight he heard a rustling sound, then a plunge into the water, and rebound on the floor—all occurring with the quickness of thought. He sprang to the floor from his bed to see an enormous rat dragging the precious relic to his hole! A moment and the heart which had been too vast in its ambition to be satisfied with the sovereignty of continental Europe, would have been more degraded than the dust of imperial Cæsar.

THE PASSION FOR ROSES.—The Romans were passionately fond of roses. Cleopatra received Anthony at one of her banquets in an apartment covered with rose leaves, and Anthony, when dying, requested roses to be strewn on his grave. Rose water was the favorite perfume of Roman belles; they even used it in their baths. The Turks believe that roses sprang from the breath of [illegible] for which reason they never tread on a rose, nor suffer one to lie on the ground; they also sculpture roses on the tombs of unmarried ladies. The language of flowers has an impassioned eloquence.

A Louisville paper says: "There was a wise politician in Illinois once who announced that he was in favor of the liquor law, but opposed to its execution. In this Arkansas matter our position is slightly different. We are opposed to two Governors there, but in favor of their execution."

The following comment on Colonel Chesney's essays by the London Times will be read with universal interest, notwithstanding all that has been already said in comparing the two great leaders of our late sectional war;

GRANT AND LEE.

Colonel Chesney's estimate of Grant is a chief coincides for the most part with our own. The American commander is certainly not a strategist of the first order, and in the great combinations of war he but slowly arrives at sound conclusions. But his tenacity deserves the highest praise; on the field he has often shown true insight; and he has this quality of greatness, that he can perceive his mistakes and correct them with perseverance and energy. He seems also to have generally apprehended the true means of overcoming the South somewhat sooner than most of his Northern colleagues; and if he unduly lavished the blood of his men, he always commanded their respect and esteem. These characteristics may be plainly seen throughout the course of his arduous campaign. Like Colonel Chesney, we cannot excuse him for his operations in the summer of 1864; even if we believe he yielded to Lincoln he should not have moved as he did at first on Richmond, and his murderous and useless waste of his troops would have been fatal to him two years before. In fact, his strategy on this occasion was inferior to that of the decried McClellan; and Grant also was all but foiled by the skilful Beauregard at Pittsburg Landing, and was months discovering the weak points of Vicksburg. On the other hand, his attacks on Fort Henry and Donelson show real decision and force of character. His movements against both Vicksburg and Richmond were ultimately what they ought to have been; his conduct at Chattanooga was able, and he is, perhaps, entitled to the chief credit of the conception of Sherman's march through Georgia. We have ourselves, like Colonel Chesney, compared the American commander to Masseus; but if he has not surpassed the French marshal in war, he is infinitely above him in all moral qualities.

"The [illegible] —and Colonel Chesney agrees with our judgment—to be compared with his greatest opponent in the highest attainments of the military art; and as Hannibal, notwithstanding Zama, towers over the very inferior Scipio, the figure of Lee eclipses Grant, though Lee succumbed to the Norther chief. Colonel Chesney's essay on the brilliant career of the renowned leader of the Virginian army is too short to do the theme justice, but it is very attractive and full of interest. We have no space to notice the pleasing description he has given us of the private life of Lee, nor yet to comment on the public virtues of the high minded citizen who drew his sword reluctantly in what he thought the rightful cause, and bore himself like a true patriot when reproach and disaster gathered around him. A few words are all that we can devote to the military powers of this great captain; and they are, indeed, superfluous, for their best monument is the battle-fields of the American war. It may be said, however, that Lee has a place in the foremost rank of modern strategists; he possessed in the very highest degree ability for the great operations of war; few generals have ever, in Colonel Hamley's phrase, 'interpreted the theatre' with equal insight and known as well how to turn it to account; and no one certainly since the time of Napoleon has conquered against such immense odds and has so long and fiercely disputed the prize of victory with failing resources. His combinations, indeed, bear a striking resemblance in many particulars to those of the Emperor; like him he gained astonishing success by the well-planned use of interior lines and bold movements against divided foes; like him he avoided the timid system of passive defence as a general rule, and seemed the assailant though on the defensive; like him he possessed a fund of resources in his own genius which effected wonders; like him, too, he was swift and terrible in availing himself of the mistakes of an enemy. Thus it has happened that his campaigns have much in common with those of Napoleon, and fascinate the reader for the same reasons. They exhibit the triumph of profound intelligence of calculation, and of well-employed force over numbers, slowness, and disunited counsels, like those of 1796 and 1814, and his victory on the Chickahominy in 1862 and out manœuvring of Grant in 1864 may fairly compare with Arcola or Rivoli and with the immortal struggle on the Marne and Seine. Lee, too, has never been surpassed in the art of winning the passionate love of his troops, and, as with all generals of a high order, his lieutenants looked up to him with perfect confidence, and saw in his commands a presage of victory. As an administrator, however, this great commander, Colonel Chesney tells us, was not successful; he too easily overlooked faults and was somewhat careless of such important matters as the commissariat and similar departments; and, resembling Napoleon in this also, he trusted too much to the effects of strategy, and was not sufficiently alive to the value of discipline and a good military system. He appears also never to have bowed Mr. Davis and his counsellors to his will; and though he was certainly aware that the rulers of the South made capital mistakes in invading the North, in maintaining an useless force in the West, and in continuing the hopeless defence of Richmond he never contrived to change their purpose. Yet the grave that covers Robert Lee hides the dust of one of the greatest of our age; and the time has even now come when the victorious North can think of him as of one of her foremost citizens.

RESULTS OF A PRACTICAL JOKE.

In some of the bucolic regions a wedding is the regular occasion for an outbreak of barbarism. The law of evolution is illustrated by an unconscious but irresistible return to some prehistoric custom peculiar to the jokel in the earlier stages of his being. Hence the charivari, the horning and tooting, and the multitude of rude devices by which order and peace are destroyed, and personal safety is put in peril. It is not seldom that loss of life is recorded on these occasions, when the pent up hilarity of a township finds vent in a midnight carousal, and when careless jokers or careful malignants combine to intimidate or injure.

Not seldom is that 'funny fellow,' the village wag, absent, and to him in some moments of fatal inspiration is given the opportunity of achieving a bad eminence, from which he will survey life with sorrow so long as his pitiful career shall last. Something of this sort comes out of an affair at East Meadow, L. I., on Wednesday evening last. It was a wedding, and a crowd had gathered to witness the ceremony, and give the wedded pair a joyous send-off. The bride walked down the path from the house to the street, took her seat in a carrage and held the reins until her husband joined her. This was the supreme moment for the 'innocent' of the village. Careless of results he fired a gun. The report startled the horse. There was a frightful runaway, and in ten minutes the dead body of the bride, shockingly lacerated, was found in a pool into which the horse had fallen, breaking his forelegs, and necessitating his own sacrifice.

The story is a simple one, but it adds one more to the long record of practical jokes perpetrated by the 'funny fellow' whom society tolerates outside of the asylum, lunatic or idiot. Others of this class pass their time in pointing unloaded guns at their little sisters or other associates, when the gun goes off and life is taken they profess unbounded surprise that 'things can be thus.'—These wits are to be found everywhere, in all ages, and all climes, but it is noticeable that they generally lose their feelings of hilarity, after having put their wits to some calamitous end.—N. Y. Com. Ad.

"HERE's a chance. Said an old gentleman to Miss Phœbe Cousins; 'I wish you would give up this foolish notion of running about to lecture and settle down, have a husband and be a good housekeeper.' Miss Cousins replied; 'Barkis is willing; but where's your man?'"

A REMARKABLE SUICIDE.

Correspondence of the New York World.

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.

A most remarkable and romantic suicide of a member of one of the first families has just occurred here. The prevailing opinion is that the death was accidental, but it is known to the friends of the family to have been a suicide.

Last winter a beautiful and highly accomplished young girl removed to the city from Natchez. Her parents were in no moderate circumstances. She entered heartily into the social gayeties of the season, and at the termination thereof found she had won two lovers. One was a young clerk, handsome, gay, and fascinating; the other a merchant of extensive means, but some years older than his rival. Society generally believed that the young man had won the maiden's heart, but her good sense prevailed over her sense of romance, and she accepted the hand of the merchant. A few days ago they were married. Among the guests present at the ceremony was the rejected lover. He was in excellent spirits, and never shone to better advantage. The guests having departed the bride retired, and the groom and a few friends gathered in the supper room to drink a parting toast. Just as the champagne cork popped and flew to the ceiling the young man entered, approached the groom, and without an angry or a warning word felled him to the floor. The friends interfered and prevented an immediate encounter. The groom, much excited, insisted upon a prompt settlement. The house was searched high and low for weapons, and nothing but an old pair of rusty foils found. The buttons were broken from these, the men placed in position, and in a moment more were engaged in mortal combat. The young man was the better swordsman, and by a quick, sudden pass disarmed his opponent, threw him on his back, and was in the act of thrusting his foil through the struggling man's throat, when the door flew open and the bride, clad in her night dress, rushed in, threw herself between the combatants, and begged her husband's life from his rival's hands. The young man, with an oath, threw his foil upon the floor and rushed from the house. The next morning he was found in his room with a bullet through his brain. The facts, through the influence of the parties engaged, were suppressed and the shooting pronounced accidental.

LEMONS IN FLORIDA.—According to the Ocala Banner, in the early history of Florida Oranges and Lemons were very scarce, and it was generally believed that the climate was wholly unadapted to their production. Mr. E. J. Harris was one, however, who differed from the generally received opinion of this subject; and, accidentally coming into the possession of a small, unpromising lemon seeding, he set it out on his place on Lake Harris, simply as an experiment. The place was soon afterwards abandoned, and this tweed had to struggle for existence among a ranker growth of weeds and brambles. After the war this place was re-occupied, and it was found that this neglected and unpromising twig had developed into a tree, and it now yields an annual crop of seven thousand lemons. It is, at this season literally weighed down with fruit, and is the wonder of every traveller to this lake. The fruit is not of the best variety, but the tree has acted well its part, it has exploded the false ideas of those times, and is a living argument that lemons can be grown in Florida.

The Franco-German war demonstrated the value of carrier pigeons so plainly that the French Government has decided to erect a large house and to keep constantly in it for the next six years 5,000 pairs of pigeons for breeding purposes. Each fortress is to possess a military pigeon house with a capacity for 1,000 birds, and two general stations are to be established with accommodations for 80,000 birds. In case of another war, the French are determined to be provided with means to communicate with friends where neither telegraph nor railway lines can be used. The Germans are also breeding carrier pigeons on a large scale for the use of the army. The great affection for home makes men fight for their country, and the strong love for the spot where it was reared renders valuable the services of the carrier pigeon to an army in a state of siege.

FREE TOBACCO.—Commissioner Douglas is very much opposed to the bill agreed on Thursday by the ways and means committee, allowing tobacco producers to sell one hundred dollars' worth free of taxation. Mr. Douglas says it will be impossible to restrict the producers to such limited sales, and thinks the internal revenue will lose three millions annually if the bill is passed.—Special to Baltimore Sun.

Washington Chronicle: The late Elder Knapp must have been an original creationist. He once described the terrible heat of hell by saying that if a man were taken out of it and plunged into the hottest fire of an earthly furnance he would freeze to death from the transition.

THE WORLD'S POPULATION.

On Pope's principle that the proper study of mankind is man, some statistics recently drawn up by foreign authorities are interesting. It appears from these calculations that the earth has 1,288,000,000 inhabitants, of which 360,000,000 belong to the Caucasian race, 552,000,000 to the Mongolian race, 180,000,000 to the Ethiopian, 1,000,000 to the Indo-American, and 176,000,000 to the Malayan race. These different races speak 3,642 languages, and profess about a thousand different religions.

The number of deaths averages over 33,000,000 a year, 90,000 per day, 3,750 per hour, 60 per minute, 1 per second, so that each of our pulsations marks on an average, the death of a human being. This loss is compensated by an equal number of births, and this number may even be somewhat greater.

The average length of life in man is said to be 33 years; but this is because one-fourth of the population of the earth dies before reaching the age of 7 years, and a half before the age of 17. It is estimated that only one in 100,000 persons lives to be 100 years old, and one in 5,000 lives to be 90 years old, and one in 1,000 lives to 70 years old.

Married men are said, on an average, to live longer than bachelors, and tall men than short men; but, of course, the differences are not great. It is said of 1,000 persons 65 marry, and it is in the months of June and December, which mark the two opposite solstices—winter and summer—that the greatest number of marriages take place. But these last statistics are palpably of civilized countries rather than of the whole globe. Children born in the spring are generally stronger, it is said, than those born in other seasons, while births and deaths occur more frequently during the night than in the day time.

EGYPT TRANSFORMED.

The East has always been a land of wonders to those of Western birth, and it is not likely to lose its fascination. A quarter of a century ago it still retained the characteristics of antiquity and romance which made it a fitting scene for the tales of the Arabian Nights, and to-day the whole structure of its social and political life is stirred to its foundations by the efforts of a generous and ambitious Prince to bring his country into the march of modern progress and civilization. Egypt is as much a land of marvels to-day as ever. When Mr. Taylor was there in 1852, the magic and the mystery of the Orient enveloped everything. Now it is full of a different strangeness—the new, unfinished suggestiveness of Omaha or Duluth, in conflict with the somnolent picturesqueness of old Cairo. A railroad, which runs according to its time-table, an Opera House which gives a masterpiece of Verdi before New York and years before Paris, a telegraph in communication with Printing House square, and hotel clerks who accost you in English, are features of Egyptian life as miraculous as anything which the Princess Scheherazade recounted to her sister. They recall that fantastic story of Edgar Poe, in which he imagines the fair story teller recounting, in guise of fiction, the every day scenes of modern times, until the King, weary of her extravagances, calls for the bow-string.

Hillsborough Recorder.
WEDNESDAY..........MAY 20, 1874.

FOR SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Col. Stephen D. Pool,
OF CRAVEN.

COL. JOHN W. CUNNINGHAM.

The letter from this staunch and tried Conservative will attract attention without special call to it. All who know him, know him to be a man whose heart is in his hand and in whose mouth is the word of truth; that upon his brow is stamped the seal of integrity, and that in his brain are mapped no devious lines of crooked policy and subtle intrigue. When, then, he speaks or when he writes, all know that he gives utterance to the genuine impulses of his nature.

His letter in another column is written in advance to reconcile anticipated conflicting interests; to smooth the way to harmony, and ensure the fruits of conservative success. Col. Cunningham offers himself as the sacrifice, if he is demanded as a victim. He takes the true idea of the situation—that the success of our party is a vital necessity, to which no personal ambition or aspiration must be opposed; that they should not be permitted to stand in the way, but that party exigencies demand that all such elements of defeat should be inexorably swept away.

But this is the danger to which the party is exposed. With the absolute necessity for success before it—a success through which alone the country can ever again expect to enter upon a career of prosperity; with the example of our opponents, ruined by victory, divided in counsel, and splitting into factions—there are yet those in the party who would imperil this success, would slight the advantages offered, and would, by dividing the strength of their own party, restore the balance of victory to their opponents almost now ready to submit to the premonitions of defeat.

It is to such that the generous appeal of John W. Cunningham is made; to such his selfsacrificing example presented. If such a man as he, with unbounded personal popularity, and a preponderance of local influences as would almost make his election certain even as an independent candidate, can afford to withdraw that the harmony of his party may be preserved, surely the lesser lights may consent to temporary extinguishment for the same noble and momentous object.

PERSON COUNTY, N. C. May 13th.

Editor Hillsboro Recorder:

The very general use of my name in connection with the position of State Senator from this District makes it my duty to state to you my position on the subject.

The public desire, and not my own, brought me out at the last election for the honorable and responsible trust with which the people clothed me by a flattering vote, and it is well known to my intimate friends, that I was sincerely anxious never again to enter public life and that, in my view, I sacrificed private interests to serve the State, yielding my strong inclinations to the persuasions of a constituency that has often trusted and honored me, and whose interests it is my delight to promote.

There is a general urgent disposition to have me again nominated for the Senate—and on the other hand, it is claimed by some that one of the Senators from this District should be alternated between the counties of Caswell and Person. I desire to say in regard to this last named subject, that, while I am conscious of a strong attachment to the people of Caswell, and as Senator from a District composed of three Counties, consider myself the Representative of each alike, and could not be induced knowingly to discriminate for or against any one, yet, if it is deemed better to select this time from Orange and Caswell, I will cheerfully bow to the popular will. I have never been, and I never will be a self-constituted leader. I have made heavy sacrifices more than once to bear the standard of a public cause in times of trial and danger, when the county committed it to my hands, and I am ready to battle again for our common rights, a private or officer, according to the will of my people. There was never a period in our history when it was more important to secure harmony of counsel and unity of action among all who love their country. The corruptionists, now a vast, disciplined and determined army, have grown to the importance of a national plague, and to present appearance, it would seem as if the whole country was to be devoured by them. Associated in concentric rings, and armed with past spoliations, they are prepared for desperate war, and if the honest masses would not be sold into the bondage of unceasing and grinding labor in the condition of half fed serfs, merely to secure princely incomes to hordes of luxurious idlers, they must unite, and unite now, and sinking personal interests and ambition, stand shoulder to shoulder with the resolution and energy of men who deserve to be free. I would consider dissentions now in the ranks of the Democratic Conservatives as a grievous calamity, and I will be the very last to cause them; and I wish it to be well understood that I am for the honest interests of the country, of the people of every race, class and party first, last and all the time, and for such action as will promote them.

This is my position, and grateful for past confidence, sure that I have conscientiously striven to deserve it, happy in the consciousness that my whole public life is without the shadow of a stain, and hoping that the enthusiastic attachment for me in the county of my home, where I have always run ahead of my ticket, will go with me to the common cause whether I be a leader or private in it, I am ready to be true to my past record by serving wherever the people place me.

With sincere wishes for harmony in our counsels for the sake of the public welfare.

I am with much respect,
Truly yours,
J. W. CUNNINGHAM.

COUNTY NOMINATIONS.

We publish the letter below without any special desire to comment upon it. We have advised adhesion to party, unflinching loyalty to its principles. That is still our determination; for it is through these alone that success can be reached.

We publish the communication without endorsement of its views, leaving to our readers the forming of their own opinions. Individual expressions of dissatisfaction may or may not represent general sentiment, and at present we have no means of knowing how wide spread are the ideas of our correspondent.

It is to be regretted that there should be any difference of opinion. It is only another fruit of that indifference to public affairs which holds the voter back from the primary meetings, through which public action is most safely shaped.

Editor of the Recorder:

The writer of this, feels it his duty as a member of the Democratic Conservative party, to give his views in regard to the political situation in Orange. Your correspondent has never been a disorganizer, having invariably supported all nominees of his party. The same can be said of this section of the county. To be frank, the nomination made by our county Convention of 9th inst., I regard as a most unfortunate one, especially for the House of Representatives. If said nomination stands, it will be the cause of our majority being reduced 300 votes, if it is not defeated itself.

You will remember, Mr. Editor, that old Orange is expected to roll up a majority of 6 to 8 hundred, and this must be done in order to save the Congressional and Judicial elections. The nominations should have been made by a nominating committee of the whole, in the old way. But instead of that, each Township Committee of delegates acted separately and independently giving themselves no opportunity to compare views and act in harmony, so that the strongest men would have been put forward. Your correspondent is of opinion that our ticket, as it now stands, cannot carry the conservative strength in this part of the county, and the same opinion prevails from all other parts of the county as far as I have been able to learn. Something must be done, or we are beaten.

Yours,
May 14th. A VOTER.

The late period at which the following letter was received leaves us no room for comment this week, and we present it on its merits for the individual consideration of those most interested in the question:

For the Recorder.

MR. EDITOR: I have just seen by chance a Durham Tobacco Plant of some four weeks ago in which is put forward the preposterous claim that Orange is to have one of the Senators for this district in every election.

If Caswell is willing to listen to such nonsense, I assure you that Person will not. The editor of the 'Plant' even says that the representatives of Person and Caswell at the district Convention two years ago agreed to that claim of Orange then made. Of this I know nothing as I was not there; but I never heard of such concession or such claim before. But if the Person delegates entered into any such agreement, they went outside of their commission, transcended the authority given them, falsified the trust confided to them, and returning made no report of said action. They could not have bound their county by any such pledge, and would have been promptly rebuked by their constituents had they reported any such conduct on their return.

Person will go into Convention with Caswell and Orange, conceding a Senator to Caswell because she had none the last time, and casting lots with Orange to decide which of them shall have the other. Upon no other terms will Person enter the Convention or vote for its nominees.

This claim made for Orange is not only arrogant but excessively selfish. In the last election Orange had not only her two commoners, but one of the two Senators allotted to the three counties, and a place on the general State ticket besides to wit: J. W. Graham for Public Treasurer, to which latter favor she was in no small degree indebted to the vote and influence of Person in the State convention at Greensboro.

I send you this for publication in order that your delegates may get rid of such presumptuous and discourteous notions in time, and may meet us prepared to do the right and fair thing.

Respectfully,
May 16th. PERSON.

ARKANSAS.

The President has recognized the right of Baxter to retain possession of the gubernatorial chair, and by his proclamation has called for the suspension of all hostile organization. Brooks and his party, by farther resistance will be put in the attitude of rebellion.

PRESS ORATORY.

Editorial life is not particularly conducive to oratory. A facility of writing, however great, does not always presuppose an equal readiness of speech. Ready as a writer may appear, there is always a certain degree of deliberation, a minimum allotment of choice, in the selection of word or phrase, which is incompatible with the off hand dash, which, heedless of form, reckless of praise or blame, plunges at once into and through the subject, and comes out happy in the triumphs of its temerity.

Editors rarely make good stump speakers. Fewer still are happy on festal occasions. He who might dash off at a moments notice, the most spirited description or spicy paragraph, might stammer like a very clown in the presence of an audience. His thoughts, accustomed to be weighed, find halting utterance from unready tongue.

This rule had few exceptions in the late editorial convention, and few made reputations as speakers. There were some notable exceptions. The President of the Association Maj. Engelhard was always ready, self possessed, fluent and agreeable. In the grave, the gay, the graphic and the graceful, he was equally felicitous. Our young friend Skinner of the Henderson Register made his mark as a budding orator of bright promise. His voice is exceptionally fine, his manner impressive, and the substance of his remarks sensible, frequently eloquent. Capt. Denson of the State Agricultural Journal has also a pleasant manner a fine voice, and most poetical and eloquent diction. The handsome Duffy of the Greensboro Patriot was called out at Haw River, and next to Maj. Engelhard, is the most experienced speaker of the Association. He is really a capital one. Dr. Pritchard, trained in another school, had advantages over the others. That however cannot detract from the merit of his speeches, which were exceedingly graceful, beautiful and eloquent, and the 'gang' was proud to have him as its mouth-piece.

Others we might name, but we will spare their modest blushes in naming them so openly.

NOMINATIONS.

A radical Convention held at Goldsboro on Thursday nominated J. H. Hyman, col., as the candidate for Congress for the Newbern District, beating Thomas the present incumbent.

Will the republicans of the West adhere to a party which cannot find white men in the east good enough to represent it?

The Judicial convention of the 9th District held at Lincolnton on the 13th nominated David Schenck of Lincoln, for Judge and W. J. Montgomery of Cabarrus for Solicitor. Judge Shipp was put in nomination before the convention. The meeting was not entirely harmonious, and complaints of unfairness are freely made.

In the Wake county convention of the radicals, Tim Lee was nominated for Sheriff, and J. N. Bunting for Superior Court Clerk. The meeting was wild, turbulent, and discreditable, and indicates such deep seated dissension in the radical party, that, if the conservatives are wise, they will take most profitable advantage of it.

The Democratic Conservatives in the Fifth Judicial District nominated Bartholomew Fuller Esq., for Judge.

PURNELL A KU-KLUX.

The Conservative party has borne a weight of odium for its supposed connection with, and responsibility for, the Ku Klux operations which has been grievously felt in every operation of government both general and local in our domestic affairs during the four past years. Yet the radical party, the self constituted guardians of law and order, have put out as their candidate a man who, according to the Winston Sentinel, is proved to have been an initiated member of the obnoxious order, and who, when asked by Mr. Pool, did not answer the question whether he had or had not been one.

As Wilson Cary would say, 'Oh consistency, thou art a jeweller.'

POOL AND PURNELL.

These contestants met at Winston on the 12th and had a sharp debate. Purnell is no match for Pool, either in argument or eloquence. On the Civil Rights bill, Purnell is impaled. He will be unable to satisfy either East or West. He admits the mixed schools provision wrong. If this is wrong, why not mixed churches, mixed grave yards, mixed tables, mixed rail-roads, mixed everything? Yet this is what the radicals of the North want to give us and the radicals of the South demand that we accept.

MARKETS.

We are compelled this week to omit quotations. It will satisfy those interested to know that there is little appreciable variations in the quotations of Tobacco and Cotton, both continuing firm, with prospects of advance in both.

AWFUL CATASTROPHE.

Three reservoirs of water for the use of factories at Williamsburg Massachusetts, gave way on Saturday, flooding everything below, swamping several towns and villages, destroying factories, and other buildings, and involving a loss of from five to ten millions of dollars.

Many lives were lost. Sixty dead bodies have already been recovered.

☞ Commodore Buchanan, who commanded the Merrimac in the celebrated fight in Hampton Roads, which opened the era of iron-clad naval warfare, has lately died in Maryland at the age of 74.

We had the pleasure of meeting at the Press convention our valued friend F. Bouldin Esq. of the Danville Times. We are glad to know that he thoroughly enjoyed his visit to North Carolina and recognized the complete identification of the feelings and interest of the two peoples. We hope his example will be followed next year by more of our Virginia confreres.

DEMOREST.

A brilliant number, that for June, is on our table. Want of space will preclude special notice. We can only reiterate our appreciation of a journal which holds the first position in this country in its special department of literature.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE PAIN-KILLER,
Manufactured by
PERRY DAVIS & SON.

HAS won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in medical preparations. The universality of the demand for the PAIN KILLER is a novel, interesting, and surprising feature in the history of this medicine. The Pain-Killer is now regularly sold in large and steadily increasing quantities, not only to general agents in every State and Territory of the Union, and every Province in British America, but to Buenos Ayres, Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Chili and other South American States, to the Sandwich Islands, to Cuba and other West India Islands; to England and Continental Europe; to Mozambique, Madagascar, Zanzibar and other African lands; to Australia and Calcutta, Rangoon and other places in India. It has also been sent to China, and we doubt if there is any foreign port or any inland city in Africa or Asia, which is frequented by American and European missionaries, travelers or traders, into which the Pain-Killer has not been introduced.

The extent of its usefulness is another great feature of this remarkable medicine. It is not only the best thing ever known, as everybody will confess, for Bruises, cuts, burns, &c, but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of British India and the West India Islands and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as dyspepsia, liver complaints, and other kindred disorders. For coughs and colds, canker, asthma and rheumatic difficulties it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing trials and testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. The proprietors are in possession of letters from persons of the highest character and responsibility, testifying in unequivocal terms to the cures effected and the satisfactory results produced, in an endless variety of cases by the use of this great medicine. That the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested, all over the world, and it need only to be known to be prized.

Sold by all Druggists.

Omission.

In the report of the proceedings of the County Convention, we inadvertently omitted the name of our excellent friend, Harvey Hughes in connection with the Sheriffalty. He was unanimously renominated, and not the shadow of opposition presented. Indeed so universally acceptable is our worthy sheriff to all of every party and class, that his continuance in office was a fore-gone conclusion, and that will account for the over sight of the formal mention of his name in connection with the nominations.

THE PRESS CONVENTION.

The graceful compliment and elegant tribute paid to the Press of North Carolina throughout the whole period of its late annual Convention form too striking an object to be passed over as one of the mere incidentals of every day life.

It was one of the first public recognitions of the power of the press, and almost one of the first acknowledgements of its services. It was also one of the first manifestations of a perception of the mutuality of the relations between that guiding spirit, which acting upon intelligence, strives to awake society to its duties and the knowledge of its powers, and those interests, moral, intellectual, and material, which it is the work of the press to arouse into action.

We do not design here to enter into any detail of the merely business operations of the convention. That will hardly interest most of our readers, who, many of them at least, will have been already fully informed through the city press of Raleigh. But we think we hardly need apologize, if we devote rather more space than is our custom to a single subject. The compliment to the representative intelligence of our readers must be appropriated by themselves, and we think they will fully appreciate the honor in which the organs of their respective communities were held, and share in the pleasures so lavishly spread and so heartily enjoyed, by their hard worked and meagerly rewarded toilers for the general welfare.

RALEIGH.

We are overwhelmed in the very outset with an embarras du richesse; for Raleigh in all its connections with the press was so lavishly hospitable, so delicately generous, so provident in its preparations, and so magnificent in carrying out all the details of the arrangements, that more was presented for participation and enjoyment, than it is possible briefly to do justice to. The resolutions adopted by the convention must suffice instead of an individual expression of opinion, and will excuse the enumeration of all ministers to the pleasures of the Association. We will briefly notice some of the occasions enjoyed and places visited.

The first was the

ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE

In elegant private carriages put at the disposal of the guests of the city by various gentlemen. A train of seventeen vehicles drawn by spirited horses, dashing along at exhilirating speed, was a brilliant spectacle, and a novelty of position well calculated to turn the heads of poor editors, and set them to thinking of other modes than the quill to retain the temporary consequence thrust upon them.

The party was received by Dr. Grissom and conducted by him, with the assistance of Dr. Fuller, Mrs. Higgins, and other attaches of the Institution, through all the wards, male and female, through the kitchen, the laundry, the gardens, and all other points of interest. The impression upon the party was saddening, yet gratifying—saddening to witness the wreck of mind and the overthrow of reason—but gratifying to witness the tender and efficient care of Dr. Grissom and his associates, and the amelioration of the condition of the hapless sufferers through his tenderness and skill. It is evident that Dr. Grissom is signally qualified for his duties, and his removal or withdrawal from the institution would be an irreparable calamity. The Association were all convinced of what has been often pressed without effect on the Legislature—the insufficiency of accommodation. We hope that will be pressed until the want is supplied.

The visit was terminated by the introduction to a table loaded with delicacies and brilliant in decoration which was an amazing sight to some of our country editors, but which from its rapidly recurring frequency during our visit to Raleigh these same gentlemen began to regard with the critical eye of the surfeited ennuyee.

Strawberries, ice cream, jellies, cakes, wines, claret punches, lemonade, all were spread in tempting profusion and the novelty of the repast ensured full justice to it.

On the morning of the second day of the convention, the association proceeded first to the

where Professor Kerr received it and exhibited the varied specimens of the mineral wealth of the state, and displayed an extent of accumulation, and diversity of material that was surprising to many members of the Press and may be productive of much good. The party then proceeded to magnificent building to which it had been invited to witness the magnitude of their operations. Their business is a fair index of the growth of the cotton trade in Raleigh. A member of this firm a few years ago bought the first hundred bales sold in the city as a speculative article. They had during our visit 1500 bales in store and Raleigh has bought this season upwards of 30000 bales.

After a full exploration of the premises the party was conducted to the sample room of the establishment where they were received by Maj. Thomas, one of the firm in an appropriate speech, and then partook of a bountiful and handsome collation.

The large job office and bindery of Edwards and Broughton, one of the real Institutions of the city was next visited, and after inspection, another elegant collation was spread to view; cakes, ice cream and strawberries, and heartily enjoyed. Here a most beautiful and appropriate speech was made by Dr Pritchard. We will say here that speech making was one of the inseparable incidents and became one of the greatest bores of the visits.

After leaving this establishment the party submitted themselves to the tender mercies of Mr Watson who speedily photographed the group and who has kindly promised each member of it a copy.

THE GOVERNOR.

A visit was then made to His Excellency Governor Caldwell. The party was cordially and handsomely recieved in the executive office in a brief speech by the Governor, which was replied to by Mr Skinner of the Henderson Register in very excellent style and spirit. The party or such as desired, were refreshed in genuine old North Carolina style. This visit was altogether gratifying to all parties and the sentiments expressed by the Governor most patriotic and unexceptionable.

THE PENITENTIARY.

A heavy rain after dinner somewhat retarded the movements of the party, but at half past four the same dashing train of equipages was on its way, and freely invaded the stern precincts of the Penitentiary, so generally open to crime alone. The party were rather amazed at the amount of work already done, concealed as it is from outside view by the forbidding stockade. The long extent of massive foundation, extending 620 feet in one direction with a transverse section of 300 feet, is now about 10 feet above ground. Much material is cut and ready to be in place, and the clink of the chisel tells that work is going on. A quarry on the premises, of exceedingly hard and fine granite furnishes most of the material.

The cells, kitchens &c were all visited and the discipline, and general system of management seemed to be very good. We noticed one negro child, 3 years old, born within the walls. The mother Jenny Green, is a convict from Orange, condemned for life for the murder of her husband.

ST. MARY'S.

Up to this point, the Association, while enjoying themselves greatly, had only been brought in contact with the comparatively rude forms of business, or been introduced to the presence of suffering or crime, the more repulsive features which, indeed, had been softened or concealed, by the tender hand of courtesy. It was now to be ushered into a new scene, to be favored with glimpses of paradise, to be dazzled with the brilliancy of female beauty. Well might our "Indian" friend, Robinson from Cherokee, when he entered the splendid saloon of St. Mary's say, "I want to go no farther; I want to camp here."

Dr. Smedes received the party in his usual graceful and happy way, in a pleasant speech of welcome, which gave time to many of the younger members of the party to recover from their perturbation, and strengthened them to endure the blaze of beauty which poured upon them from the farther end of the hall. A semicircle of fair ones spanned the upper portion of the room; glowing like a living rainbow with the charming hues of youth and health, and the more vivid coloring of the varied toilette.

A very spirited rendering of "the old North State" by the young ladies, with a full chorus by all the pupils, was a happy reminder to the Press of their duties, to the State, whose fame and whose honor were so much in their keeping.

A brief inspection of the beautiful Chapel concluded the visit to St. Mary's, and the party sped rapidly to the BAPTIST FEMALE SEMINARY.

This building, once the residence of Col. William Polk, of revolutionary memory, was replete with pleasant associations to some of the visitors. It is now changed in location, and enlarged by additions so as to be scarcely recognizable; but the old pleasant and hospitable rooms are unchanged, and imagination might readily refill them with their former occupants. The visitors proceeded almost at once to the Chapel where they were treated to a feast of music under the charge of Mr Meyerhoff, the musical director. A lengthy programme was gone through with greatly to the credit of the performers and much to the pleasure of the audience, few of whom will forget this happy musical rendition of the irreconcileable interests and tendencies of these United States.

THE PEACE INSTITUTE

A brisk drive brought the party to this institution, but owing to the lateness of the hour the exercises here were much curtailed. After refreshments the young ladies went through a series of callisthenic exercises, a novel and interesting sight to most of the spectators. Some of them thought it might be a dangerous experiment to choose a wife among a body so well trained in the use of the quarter staff the dumb bells, and other implements of athletic exercise. There is no question nevertheless that grace and health are vastly promoted by their use and it would be somewhat unwise to sacrifice the opportunity of obtaining a handsome and healthy wife to the rather remote chance of getting a cracked crown or soundly cuffed ears in contingent matrimonial squabbles.

This school, like the others visited, wore the aspect of contentment, or rather happiness which was a sufficiently strong tribute to the parental supervision of the respective principals. No time was given of course to form opinion on the proficiency of the pupils in any of their studies except in music. In that the superior merit of Mr Grots at St Mary's, Meyerhoff at the Baptist seminary and Mr Bauman at the Peace Institute was conspicuously displayed.

COLORED ASYLUM

A very brief visit (for it was now dark) was made to the Asylum for the Deaf Dumb & Blind for the colored under the superintendence of James H. Harris. The advance of the deaf and dumb in chirography, which was remarkable, was the only specimen of proficiency which the shortness of time permitted. A few songs from the blind pupils made pleasing impressions. The ear and voice of the African, naturally attuned to music, were here softened and regulated by culture, and the deprivation of so important sense as sight seemed to lend a certain degree of pathos to the tones of the singers which made the singing rather touching.

DEAF DUMB & BLIND ASYLUM.

Nine o'clock brought the party, now pretty well surfeited with sounds, sights, &c to the Asylum for white patients. The usual reception speeches, and replies were made and their exhibitions given of the proficiency both of the Deaf & Dumb and of the Blind. So many of our readers have witnessed all these, that we will not repeat what we saw, only adding our testimony to the evident excellent management of the institution and the fidelity zeal and excellency of the management.

THE BANQUET.

At half past 10, the party worn out with sight-seeing found a fitting reward for their labors in the crowning glory of the occasion; the magnificent banquet spread at the "Yarborough"—the splendid contribution of the Board of Trade of Raleigh to the honor of the Press of North Carolina. The tables were regal in the wealth of ornament, splendid in the brilliancy of embellishment, charming in the tastefulness of decoration, and North Carolinian in the profusion and excellence of the viands.

Unfortunately for ourself we were compelled to forego all the enjoyment of the feast and all the pleasures which attended the after "feast of reason and the flow of soul," and left our friends to participate in them, which most of them did until a late, or rather a very early hour.

THE EXCURSION

To Haw River and the sojourn at Durham formed so marked a feature in the entertainments, and embraced so much of interest, that we would not do it the injustice to condense it in the small space left to us. We will therefore continue our notice in our next issue, with the hope that our friends at Durham, and our generous entertainer at Haw River will pardon the postponement of a tribute so richly due them.

Pic-nics.

Sundry pic-nics arranged by the Good Templars, and the children of St. Matthews Sunday School, were unceremoniously postponed by the rains of Friday and Saturday.

There was no murder near Chapel Hill, as reported in the Crescent of last week—only a rough family quarrel. We make the correction for the honor of old Orange.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

[illegible] the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
